

An example of AI put to good use.

This document serves to illustrate one example of the usefulness and effectiveness of AI to assist with the work of the Urantia community.

The CTAG initiative of 2023 was initially received with much gusto and enthusiasm by Machiventa, and over the first few months he transmitted a flurry of messages through the early CTAG participants. These transmissions quickly grew into a sizeable and unruly collection that quickly became scattered and fragmented across many emails and different emailing lists, different file formats and incongruous organization methods, and without a viable archiving method. And once again the Urantia community struggled, almost hopelessly under the weight of this new influx of otherwise very good transmissions. It was the same generational stumbling blocks repeating itself yet again.

Since the beginning of the Teaching Mission, there has been a paucity of manpower, resources, available time, skills and professionalism among the mortal participants. To complicate matters even more, the very nature of the TRing process, which Machiventa promoted as an interactive group process, allowing impromptu question and answer segments, created a disorderly situation to occur within these transcripts.

Answers to questions were sometimes broken up (by interruptions) and became split across different transcripts, causing fragmentation of information. Other issues such as Machiventa being suddenly interrupted by unrelated topics, thereby breaking the uniform flow of his thoughts also frequently occurred due to a lack of professionalism and protocol, leading to still more breakdown.

One of the wiser participants who had the most novel and creative ideas of the group became the unfortunate recipient of emotional outbursts, spiritual immaturity, and even had his own God given free will trampled on very aggressively by some of the immature and disagreeable participants. These actions were both an affront to this participant and Machiventa himself, who tried repeatedly to bring the situation under control through wisdom and maturity, but usually to no avail. The result was that these novel and creative ideas were abandoned without ever seeing the light of day, and a great team building opportunity was lost, but I digress.

All in all this extensive collection of transcripts contains tremendous value, many insights, and much wisdom, yet it was mostly unusable due to the above mentioned problems. I personally attempted to restructure this collection into something better organized, but only had limited success as the task proved to be tremendous. It was a time consuming and strenuous exercise which I was unable to sustain.

Then one day, one of the tbgcommission Team members who had a chatGPT account decided to see what AI could do with this mess. Lo and behold, the AI was able to produce the impressive results displayed below, and it took the AI but a few seconds to spit out this excellent compilation of Machiventa's messages, summarized, classified, organized and formatted as a plausible action plan for the Urantia community.

Sadly, many in the Urantia community have instead chosen to leverage AI as a means of producing quantity instead of quality. They are abdicating their ability to think for themselves, abandonning their desire to grow and solve challenges and thereby stiffling or aborting their own soul growth by inappropriate reliance on AI.

Many in the Urantia community are now scratching the itch to "create" without actually achieving the object of the desire in question, by outsourcing their worship and creative desire to do good to a mechanical AI, and thereby abdicating responsibility for their own soul growth. In the past year this is becoming painfully evident when looking at many of the new and existing Urantia community web sites which are increasingly more AI produced, AI interactive, and AI generated content.

The presence of soulless fake AI art is growing like wild fire! Real discussions between living people are now being replaced with AI chatbots. The soulless nature of AI is also creating a strong momentum towards renewed promotion of the soulless religion "about the mortal man" Jesus, instead of the genuine, learned and personally experienced journey into the Kingdom of Heaven, the true religion "of our Creator" Jesus.

GUIDE FOR MACHIVENTA'S PLAN

Compiled with the assistance of chatGPT AI

November 26, 2023

Action Plan

Machiventa informed us that he is present on the planet and that he has a plan to get Urantia out of the chaos in which we are plunged.

Although this plan is only partially revealed to us, it is obvious that this plan will be implemented by us humans in co-creation with celestial beings.

In unveiling his plan, Machiventa very briefly tells us how to act for its implementation, but we do not have an action plan that would help implement this plan quickly and effectively.

The aim of this document is indeed to provide a more precise vision of how to go about implementing the plan.

There are no guidelines in this document, but simply ideas on how to go about it, so that the concept of the blank page at the beginning is not a handicap and an obstacle to its implementation.

The Team

Mission Statement

CTAG # 16 page 3 – Machiventa

It is not necessary to single out any particular facet of this work in your foundational organization papers or in your mission statement. What is necessary is that this whole body of work be a focus of one of your purposes and missions to accomplish. Since 1985 there has been a great deal of effort put in from the Teaching Corps, the Magisterial Mission, from me and my staff, and many, many beings that have come to Urantia to assist us. That work must not fade into oblivion and become unavailable.

So, in your mission statement as well as promoting social sustainability in a general sense, it is the work of all of this that has gone before that must be a part of your intention to not only preserve, but there is some work to do to look at the way this is being done and has been done to see if it can be improved upon—to see if it can be organized and made accessible to those who haven't had the benefit of decades of reading these transcripts and listening to T/Rs talk and present this material to be able to access it in a way that is meaningful to them so that they can find their connections.

Crafting a vision statement that conveys a coherent and comprehensive message about the planetary administration's assistance and the interconnectedness of various spiritual movements is crucial for fostering unity and understanding. Here's an example vision statement that you might use as a starting point, but feel free to modify it to better align with the nuances of your group's mission.

Vision Statement

Embracing Unity in Spiritual Awakening

At this pivotal moment in the evolution of consciousness on our planet, we stand at a crossroad where diverse spiritual movements, including the Urantia Book movement and the Teaching Mission, converge to weave a tapestry of shared purpose and cosmic assistance.

We Envision:

1. Planetary Administration for Collective Progress

A recognition that a planetary administration, guided by celestial beings and overseen by entities such as Machiventa Melchizedek, is actively working to assist and elevate humanity. This administration serves as a beacon of hope, reminding us that we are not alone on our journey.

2. Coherence in Diversity

Embracing the rich diversity of spiritual teachings and movements, we envision a harmonious coexistence where each group contributes to the larger mosaic of spiritual understanding. While diverse in approaches, we are united in our shared commitment to the betterment of humanity.

3. Comprehensive Understanding

Articulating a comprehensive understanding that transcends individual spiritual paths. Our collective vision paints a big picture, highlighting the interconnection of spiritual truths, cosmic realities, and the divine assistance that surrounds us.

4. Unity in Purpose

Fostering unity in purpose, we envision a world where individuals from various spiritual backgrounds join hands to co-create a reality rooted in love, wisdom, and the pursuit of higher truths. Together, we work towards the common goal of spiritual awakening and planetary upliftment.

5. Transparent Exploration

Offering a platform for transparent exploration, where individuals can freely investigate and engage with the teachings of the Urantia Book, the insights from the Teaching Mission, and other spiritual perspectives. This exploration is marked by openness, respect, and a shared commitment to truth-seeking.

6. Connection and Collaboration

Encouraging connection and collaboration among spiritual groups, recognizing that our collective efforts amplify the impact of our individual endeavors. Through collaboration, we strengthen the bonds of our shared spiritual heritage.

7. Assurance of Celestial Assistance

Affirming and communicating to the world that celestial assistance is present, providing guidance, love, and support in our collective journey towards higher consciousness. This assurance instills hope and fosters a sense of purpose in each individual and group involved.

As we move forward, let this vision guide our actions, conversations, and collaborations, fostering a sense of coherence that transcends the boundaries of individual movements, uniting us in the shared quest for spiritual awakening and planetary transformation.

The Spiritualization of Society

CTAG #14 page 3 - Machiventa

... And so, in this grand experiment in time as humans have evolved in mind, heart, and ability to communicate with and receive celestial messages, it's time now to work around the world in all these places and come up with a unified approach that is culturally unique in terms of its adaptation of where it may be in this world, but with the same underlying, uniform message. And that message is simply the spiritualization of society. So, we need to first and foremost understand that within ourselves. It is something that you need to do in your own private practice.

The spiritualization of society involves fostering a collective awakening to spiritual values, interconnectedness, and a shared sense of purpose. Here are some strategies that the team can employ to promote the spiritualization of society, keeping in mind the message of Machiventa:

1. Educational Campaigns

Develop and implement educational campaigns that highlight the benefits of spiritual values for individuals and society as a whole. This could include workshops, seminars, and online resources that explore topics such as compassion, empathy, and unity.

2. Community Engagement Programs

Initiate programs that actively engage communities in spiritual activities. This could involve meditation groups, community service projects, or events that promote dialogue and understanding among diverse groups.

3. Collaborate with Religious and Spiritual Leaders

Reach out to religious and spiritual leaders to collaborate on initiatives that promote spiritual values. These leaders can play a crucial role in endorsing and disseminating the message of spiritualization within their communities.

4. Integrate Spiritual Principles in Education

Advocate for the integration of spiritual principles in educational curricula at various levels. This includes promoting values such as compassion, ethical decision-making and social responsibility.

5. Cultural and Arts Initiatives

Support cultural and artistic initiatives that inspire and reflect spiritual values. This could involve promoting art exhibitions, music events, or literature that explores themes of interconnectedness and transcendence.

6. Mindfulness and Meditation Programs

Introduce mindfulness and meditation programs in schools, workplaces, and community centers. These practices can help individuals connect with their inner selves and cultivate a deeper sense of spirituality.

7. Promote Environmental Stewardship

Emphasize the spiritual importance of environmental stewardship. Connect the well-being of the planet with spiritual values, encouraging sustainable practices and a sense of responsibility for the Earth.

8. Utilize Social Media and Technology

Leverage social media and technology to disseminate spiritual messages and foster online communities dedicated to spiritual growth. This can reach a broad audience and provide a platform for discussions and shared experiences.

9. Encourage Acts of Kindness

Promote and celebrate acts of kindness within communities. Encourage individuals to express compassion, generosity, and empathy in their daily lives, creating a ripple effect of positive energy.

10. Foster Interfaith Dialogue

Facilitate interfaith dialogue to promote understanding and unity among people of different religious and spiritual backgrounds. Emphasize the common values shared across diverse belief systems.

11. Create Spaces for Reflection

Establish physical or virtual spaces where individuals can reflect, meditate, or engage in spiritual practices. These spaces can serve as community hubs for fostering a shared sense of spirituality.

12. Cultivate a Sense of Purpose

Emphasize the idea that each individual plays a unique role in contributing to the betterment of society. Cultivate a sense of purpose and collective responsibility for creating a more spiritually aligned world.

Remember that the spiritualization of society is a gradual process, and the team should approach it with patience, persistence, and an understanding of the diverse ways people connect with spirituality. By combining education, community engagement, and collaboration with existing institutions, your team can contribute to a positive shift in societal consciousness.

Cooperation and Connection

We have a program that is farseeing, that has been in development for a long time, and the aspect that we're bringing forward now is to be one of cooperation and connection. All over the world are individual groups. Now we would see them connect with one another, introduce each other to one another, offer to be of assistance to one another, and begin to learn to share a vision of our plan that is unified and coordinated.

Promoting cooperation and connection among individual groups worldwide will be a commendable goal. Building a network of interconnected groups that share a unified and coordinated vision requires careful planning and strategic implementation. Here are some steps you can take to facilitate this process:

- 1. Identify and Reach Out to Existing Groups

Conduct a comprehensive assessment to identify groups that align with your vision and mission. Reach out to them through various channels, including social media, community events, and online platforms.

- 2. Establish a Centralized Hub

Create a centralized hub, either online or physically, where these groups can converge. This hub could serve as a platform for information exchange, collaboration, and resource sharing.

- 3. Facilitate Introductions

Act as a facilitator to introduce different groups to each other. Highlight common interests, goals, or values that can serve as a foundation for collaboration. Encourage open communication and dialogue.

- 4. Organize Networking Events

Host networking events or conferences that bring together representatives from various groups. These events can provide opportunities for face-to-face interactions, idea sharing, and the establishment of personal connections.

- 5. Develop a Shared Vision

Work collaboratively with the groups to develop a shared vision that aligns with your overarching plan. Seek input from each group to ensure that the vision is inclusive and reflective of diverse perspectives.

- 6. Create Communication Channels

Establish communication channels that facilitate ongoing dialogue and information exchange. This could include online forums, newsletters, or regular virtual meetings. Encourage groups to actively participate and contribute.

- 7. Encourage Mutual Assistance

Foster a culture of mutual assistance and support among the groups. Encourage them to share resources, expertise, and best practices. Highlight the benefits of collaboration in achieving common goals.

- 8. Provide Training and Resources

Offer training sessions, workshops, or resources that empower groups to enhance their capabilities. This can include leadership development, project management skills, or any other relevant areas that contribute to their success.

9. Utilize Technology Platforms

Leverage technology platforms to facilitate collaboration. This could include project management tools, collaboration software, or dedicated online platforms for sharing updates and information.

10. Establish Clear Goals and Objectives

Define clear and achievable goals for the interconnected groups. Ensure that each group understands its role in contributing to the larger vision. Regularly assess progress and adjust goals as needed.

11. Celebrate Achievements and Milestones

Acknowledge and celebrate the achievements and milestones of individual groups and the collective network. Recognition can inspire motivation and reinforce the value of collaboration.

12. Cultivate a Sense of Unity

Emphasize the interconnectedness of the groups and the shared purpose that unites them. Cultivate a sense of unity and shared responsibility for the success of the overall Plan.

13. Adapt and Evolve

Be open to feedback and be willing to adapt the program based on the evolving needs and dynamics of the interconnected groups. Flexibility is key to maintaining a resilient and responsive network.

By actively fostering cooperation, connection, and a shared vision among diverse groups, The Machiventa Plan can contribute to a more unified and coordinated approach to achieving common goals. Remember that building strong connections takes time, patience, and a genuine commitment to collaboration.

Common Communication Platform

CTAG # 14 page 6 – Machiventa

Bob I have a question. Should we develop a common communication platform for all the different groups to meet on?

MM Thank you, Bob. That is something that I would prefer not to comment on at this time, because it is exactly the kind of thing in this beginning phase of contacting other groups and sharing ideas that is best to come from a grassroots level up, not for us to dictate the form it should take. Certainly, the idea of at some point having a way to communicate with one another in a coordinated fashion is desirable, and there are many people in all these groups all over the place that would have ideas of how to do that and the technical know-how of how to make that happen.

Developing a common communication platform for all the different groups can be a highly effective strategy to facilitate collaboration, coordination, and information exchange. A centralized platform can serve as a hub where representatives from various groups can come together, share updates, discuss strategies, and align their efforts. Here are some considerations to keep in mind when deciding whether to develop a common communication platform:

Advantages

1. Streamlined Communication

A centralized platform provides a streamlined and organized channel for communication. This can help avoid information fragmentation and ensure that updates and discussions are easily accessible to all involved parties.

2. Enhanced Collaboration

A shared platform encourages collaboration by providing a space where groups can actively engage with each other. It facilitates real-time communication, reducing delays in decision-making and action.

3. Resource Sharing

The platform can be used for sharing resources, best practices, and expertise among groups. This fosters a sense of community and allows for mutual assistance and support.

4. Centralized Information Hub

It serves as a centralized information hub, housing documents, project updates, and relevant data. This ensures that all groups have access to the latest information and can stay well-informed.

5. Increased Transparency

A common platform promotes transparency by allowing all groups to see each other's activities and progress. This transparency can build trust and a sense of accountability within the network.

6. Efficient Decision-Making

Discussions and decision-making processes can be conducted more efficiently on a centralized platform. This is particularly important for coordinating actions and aligning strategies among diverse groups.

Considerations

1. Accessibility and Inclusivity

Ensure that the chosen platform is accessible to all groups, considering factors such as language, technical capabilities, and potential barriers to entry. The platform should be inclusive to accommodate diverse needs.

2. Security and Privacy

Prioritize the security and privacy of the information shared on the platform. Implement measures to protect sensitive data and ensure that only authorized individuals have access to certain information.

3. User-Friendly Interface

Choose a platform with a user-friendly interface that is easy to navigate. This can encourage active participation and engagement from representatives of the various groups.

4. Customization and Flexibility

Consider a platform that allows for customization to meet the specific needs of your network. Flexibility in terms of features and functionalities can enhance the platform's adaptability over time.

5. Technical Support

Provide adequate technical support to address any issues or challenges that may arise while using the platform. This ensures a smooth user experience and minimizes disruptions in communication.

6. Training and on boarding

Offer training sessions and on boarding materials to help representatives from different groups become familiar with the platform. This can contribute to the platform's effective utilization.

Ultimately, the decision to develop a common communication platform depends on the specific needs, goals, and dynamics of your network.

If implemented thoughtfully, a centralized platform can significantly contribute to the success of Machiventa Plan by fostering collaboration and connectivity among diverse groups.

How would you facilitate groups of strangers?

CTAG # 15 page 1 – Machiventa

There is a need now to pull together all these loyal tribes and true practitioners, supporters, and promoters of this work over the past decades into a more cohesive message and a more cohesive organization that can receive the general public and can become teachers and guides to those who will come to this organization.....How would you facilitate groups of strangers who have no background in the Teaching Mission and transcripts, or even The Urantia Book? How would you bring them up to speed, so to speak, as to what is taking place on this world and what it is that they need to do?

Facilitating groups of strangers with no background in the Teaching Mission, celestial transcripts, or The Urantia Book requires a thoughtful and gradual approach. Here's a step-by-step guide to bring them up to speed and integrate them into the Plan:

1. Assessment of Knowledge Levels

Begin by understanding the current knowledge levels of the individuals. Conduct surveys or interviews to gauge their familiarity with spiritual teachings, celestial concepts, and related materials.

2. Create Welcome and Orientation Materials

Develop welcoming materials that provide a brief overview of the organization's history, mission, and core principles. Include introductory information about the Teaching Mission, celestial transcripts, and The Urantia Book.

3. Organize Orientation Sessions

Host orientation sessions or webinars to introduce newcomers to the organization's key concepts. These sessions can cover the history, goals, and spiritual principles, gradually delving into more specific teachings.

4. Provide Beginner-Friendly Resources

Curate beginner-friendly resources, such as introductory articles, videos, or podcasts, that explain fundamental concepts without overwhelming newcomers. Make these resources easily accessible on the organization's website or through other channels.

5. Establish Mentorship or Buddy System

Pair newcomers with experienced members who can serve as mentors or buddies. This one-on-one support system can help answer questions, provide guidance, and foster a sense of community.

6. Develop Learning Paths

Create structured learning paths or courses that guide individuals through foundational teachings. Begin with basic principles before progressing to more advanced or specific topics.

7. Encourage Open Q&A Sessions

Organize regular Q&A sessions where newcomers can freely ask questions and seek clarification. This open dialogue fosters a supportive environment and allows for personalized guidance.

8. Utilize Multimedia for Engagement

Employ multimedia formats, such as videos, info-graphics, or interactive presentations, to convey information in engaging ways. Visual aids can enhance understanding, especially for those new to the teachings.

9. Establish Discussion Forums

Set up online discussion forums or community spaces where individuals can share their thoughts, ask questions, and engage in conversations with both newcomers and experienced members.

10. Host Community Events

Organize community events that blend socialization with educational opportunities. This could include virtual meetups, conferences, or workshops that allow newcomers to interact with long-time members in a friendly setting.

11. Give an access at a Comprehensive Resource Library

Develop a comprehensive resource library that covers a range of topics related to the organization's teachings. Organize resources by difficulty level, making it easy for individuals to explore at their own pace.

12. Encourage Self-Reflection

Promote self-reflection by providing prompts, journaling exercises, or guided meditations that allow individuals to internalize and apply the teachings to their personal lives.

13. Celebrate Milestones and Progress

Acknowledge and celebrate the milestones of newcomers as they progress in their understanding of the organization's teachings. Recognition can motivate and reinforce a sense of achievement.

14. Seek Feedback and Adapt

Regularly seek feedback from newcomers on their learning experiences. Use this feedback to adapt and improve educational approaches, ensuring they are effective and responsive to the needs of the diverse audience.

By combining these strategies, you can create a supportive and inclusive environment that accommodates individuals with varying levels of familiarity with the organization's teachings. The key is to offer accessible entry points, encourage engagement, and foster a sense of community among both new and existing members.

Organize a Structure

CTAG # 15 page 2 – Machiventa

We need to move more into an action phase. So, now is the time for you to go within to ask your indwelling Spirit What is it that your blueprints hold for me? What is the will of the Father for me? And to set your intentions to be involved in doing that will and working in a collaborative and cooperative process with all these tried-and-true veterans of this work.

Keep in mind that the specifics would depend on the nature of the plan and the goals that Machiventa has outlined. Here's a step-by-step guide:

1. Clarify the Plan

Ensure a clear understanding of Machiventa's planetary plan. This involves detailed discussions, perhaps through communication channels established for celestial guidance.

2. Establish Leadership

Form a leadership team responsible for overseeing the implementation of the plan. This team should be composed of individuals with diverse skills, including organizational, spiritual, and project management expertise.

3. Define Objectives

Clearly define the objectives and goals of the planetary plan. These should be specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time-bound (SMART goals).

4. Create Working Groups

Divide the plan into distinct components or initiatives and form working groups for each. This ensures a focused approach and allows individuals to contribute based on their strengths and interests.

5. Assign Responsibilities

Clearly assign responsibilities to individuals or teams within each working group. This includes specific tasks, deadlines, and milestones.

6. Communication Plan

Develop a communication plan to keep all members informed about the progress of the plan. Regular updates, meetings, and perhaps a shared online platform can facilitate communication.

7. Training and Development

Identify the skills and knowledge required for the successful execution of the plan. Provide training and development opportunities for team members to enhance their capabilities.

8. Resource Allocation

Determine the resources needed for each component of the plan, including financial, human, and technological resources. Allocate resources efficiently to ensure the plan's success.

9. Collaboration with External Groups

Explore collaborations with external groups, including spiritual organizations, educational institutions, or community groups, to amplify the impact of the plan.

10. Monitoring and Evaluation

Establish a system for monitoring the progress of the plan. Regularly evaluate the effectiveness of each component and be open to making adjustments as needed.

11. Spiritual Guidance Sessions

Incorporate regular spiritual guidance sessions into the plan. These sessions could include meditation, prayer, or other practices that align with the spiritual aspects of the mission.

12. Adaptability and Flexibility

Recognize that the plan may need adjustments along the way. Maintain an adaptable and flexible approach to address unforeseen challenges or changes in circumstances.

13. Documentation and Record-Keeping

Keep thorough documentation of all aspects of the plan, including decisions made, challenges faced, and lessons learned. This documentation will serve as a valuable resource for future endeavors. Keep resource for future endeavors.

Remember that the success of the plan relies on the commitment, collaboration, and spiritual alignment of the team. Regular communication and a shared sense of purpose will be key to achieving Machiventa's vision for bringing the planet out of chaos.

Integration V-1

CTAG # 15 page 4 – Machiventa

Now it becomes the task of those who wish to participate to figure out how to participate with one another. It's not necessary to reinvent the wheel. We don't have time for that. What we do need to do is figure out how to strengthen and expand the structure so that it includes all the energy of these groups in a way that everybody can feel that they are plugged in, participating, and they are making a contribution. And going forward from that, how do we plan for and anticipate setting up local community groups. What would that look like? What kind of curriculum would be necessary? Would it be necessary to send temporary teachers to that community to help jump-start them?

Creating a cohesive structure that integrates various groups and fosters participation requires thoughtful planning and organization. Here's a step-by-step guide to strengthen and expand the structure, as well as considerations for setting up local community groups.

Strengthening and Expanding the Structure

1. Centralized Communication Hub

Establish a centralized communication hub, such as a website or platform, where all participating groups can share updates, resources, and collaborate. Ensure it is user-friendly and accessible to all.

2. Define Roles and Responsibilities

Clearly define roles and responsibilities within the organization. Assign specific tasks to individuals or groups based on their strengths and interests. This ensures everyone feels they have a meaningful role to play.

3. Regular Virtual Meetings

Conduct regular virtual meetings or conferences to bring representatives from different groups together. These meetings can serve as a forum for sharing progress, discussing challenges, and aligning strategies.

4. Collaborative Projects

Encourage collaborative projects that involve members from various groups working together. This not only strengthens relationships but also showcases the collective impact of the organization.

5. Recognition and Appreciation

Implement a system for recognizing and appreciating the contributions of individuals and groups. Publicly acknowledge achievements, milestones, and efforts to foster a positive and supportive culture.

6. Feedback Mechanism

Establish a feedback mechanism to gather input from participants. Use surveys, focus groups, or regular check-ins to understand the needs, concerns, and ideas of the community. Use this feedback to refine strategies.

Planning for Local Community Groups

1. Identify Potential Locations

Identify areas with a concentration of interested individuals to establish local community groups. Consider factors such as population density, existing spiritual communities, and accessibility.

2. Create a Starter Kit

Develop a starter kit or on-boarding package that includes essential information about the organization's teachings, mission, and resources. This can be distributed to individuals interested in starting a local group.

3. Online Training Modules

Create online training modules or webinars that serve as a curriculum for local community groups. Cover foundational teachings, community-building strategies, and effective communication methods.

4. Assign Mentors

Assign experienced mentors or facilitators to guide and support new community groups. These mentors can offer insights, answer questions, and provide a sense of continuity.

5. Community Building Events

Facilitate community-building events to help members of local groups connect on a personal level. This can include social gatherings, workshops, or collaborative projects.

6. Customizable Curriculum

Develop a customizable curriculum that allows local groups to tailor their activities based on the needs and interests of their members. This flexibility ensures relevance to diverse communities.

7. Regional Conferences

Plan regional conferences or events that bring together members from various local groups. These gatherings provide opportunities for networking, shared learning, and a sense of belonging to a larger community.

8. Resource Sharing Platform

Establish a platform for local groups to share resources, ideas, and success stories. This can foster a sense of interconnectedness and facilitate the exchange of best practices.

9. Temporary Teachers Program

Consider a program where experienced individuals or teachers temporarily visit local communities to provide guidance and jump-start activities. This can be particularly helpful in the initial stages of community development.

10. Community Empowerment

Empower local communities to take ownership of their groups. Encourage them to develop leadership skills, organize events, and contribute to the overall growth and sustainability [stability] of the organization.

By combining these strategies, you can create a dynamic and inclusive structure that accommodates the energy and contributions of various groups while facilitating the establishment and growth of local community groups. Remember to maintain flexibility, adapt strategies based on feedback, and foster a sense of shared purpose and collaboration.

Integration V-2

CTAG # 15 page 4 – Machiventa

Now it becomes the task of those who wish to participate to figure out how to participate with one another. It's not necessary to reinvent the wheel. We don't have time for that. What we do need to do is figure out how to strengthen and expand the structure so that it includes all the energy of these groups in a way that everybody can feel that they are plugged in, participating, and they are making a contribution. And going forward from that, how do we plan for and anticipate setting up local community groups. What would that look like? What kind of curriculum would be necessary? Would it be necessary to send temporary teachers to that community to help jump-start them?

Ensuring that independent groups working toward spiritual awakening understand the need for greater cooperation involves effective communication, shared values, and recognition of the collective impact. Here are some strategies to foster greater cooperation

1. Open Dialogue

Initiate open and honest dialogues with leaders and members of other groups. Create platforms for discussions where ideas, challenges, and visions can be shared.

2. Shared Vision

Clearly articulate a shared vision for spiritual awakening that transcends individual group goals. Emphasize the common ground and the collective impact that can be achieved through collaboration.

3. Identify Common Objectives

Identify common objectives and goals among the groups. Emphasize the idea that collaboration can amplify the effectiveness of each group's efforts.

4. Collaborative Projects

Propose and undertake collaborative projects that demonstrate the power of working together. These projects can serve as tangible examples of the positive outcomes achievable through cooperation.

5. Joint Events and Activities

Organize joint events, workshops, or spiritual gatherings. These occasions provide opportunities for members of different groups to interact, share experiences, and build relationships.

6. Create a Network

Establish a network or coalition that includes representatives from each group. This network can serve as a platform for ongoing communication, coordination, and collaboration.

7. Educational Initiatives

Collaborate on educational initiatives that promote a shared understanding of spiritual principles, practices, and the importance of unity.

8. Leadership Collaboration

Encourage collaboration among leaders of different groups. When leaders demonstrate cooperation, it sets a positive example for the entire community.

9. Joint Workshops or Training Sessions

Offer joint workshops or training sessions that provide skills and insights beneficial to all groups. This promotes a culture of continuous learning and mutual support.

10. Shared Resources

Explore opportunities for sharing resources, whether they be physical, financial, or intellectual. This can alleviate some of the individual burdens on each group.

11. Regular Communication Channels

Establish regular communication channels, such as newsletters, forums, or online platforms, to keep all groups informed about each other's activities and progress.

12. Cultural Sensitivity

Be sensitive to the cultural and spiritual diversity within each group. Acknowledge and respect differences while focusing on the shared vision and objectives.

13. Recognition of Interconnectedness

Emphasize the interconnectedness of all spiritual awakening efforts. Help groups see that their work contributes to a larger, collective shift in consciousness.

14. Celebrate Success Stories

Share success stories of collaboration to inspire and motivate other groups. Highlight the positive outcomes that can be achieved through joint efforts.

15. Facilitate Joint Decision-Making

Foster a culture of joint decision-making, where major decisions are made collaboratively with input from representatives of various groups.

16. Facilitate Conflict Resolution

Develop mechanisms for resolving conflicts or disagreements in a constructive and collaborative manner to maintain the unity of purpose.

By implementing these strategies, you can create an environment where groups recognize the importance of cooperation and actively seek opportunities to work together towards a shared spiritual awakening.

Facility - Function like a Hub & Web Site

CTAG # 15 page 5 – Machiventa

And I think it's worth studying a sort of facility or function that people can plug into where an organization can begin to be broadened, expanded, and more focused outward on the announcement of the spiritual transformation that is happening and of the planetary management and administration that exists to facilitate that.

Creating a centralized platform or facility for your organization to broaden its reach, expand its impact, and focus on the announcement of spiritual transformation and planetary management is a strategic initiative. Here are some steps and considerations to help you in this endeavor:

1. Define the Purpose and Goals

Clearly articulate the purpose and goals of the facility. Understand what specific functions it will serve and how it aligns with the broader mission of your organization.

2. Identify Target Audiences

Determine the primary target audiences for the facility. Consider whether it will cater to existing members, potential new members, the general public, or specific stakeholder groups.

3. Create a User-Centric Design

Design the facility with the end-users in mind. Ensure that the platform is user-friendly, accessible, and engaging. Consider incorporating features that enhance the user experience, such as easy navigation, multimedia content, and interactive elements.

4. Multi-Functional Platform

Make the facility multi-functional to accommodate a variety of activities. It could include features for information dissemination, community building, educational resources, event coordination, and interactive discussions.

5. Develop a Content Strategy

Plan a content strategy that aligns with the goals of the facility. This could include regular updates, articles, videos, webinars, and other content that informs, inspires, and engages the audience.

6. Leverage Technology

Explore modern technologies that can enhance the functionality of the facility. This might include interactive forums, live streaming capabilities, virtual events, and other tools that facilitate online engagement.

7. Integration with Social Media

Integrate the facility with social media platforms to leverage their reach and engagement capabilities. Consider how content from the facility can be easily shared and promoted on various social channels.

8. Mobile Responsiveness

Ensure that the facility is mobile-responsive, allowing users to access content and participate in activities from various devices. Mobile responsiveness is crucial for reaching a diverse and global audience.

9. Data Analytics and Feedback

Implement tools for data analytics to track user engagement, popular content, and other relevant metrics. Collect feedback from users to continuously improve the facility based on their preferences and needs.

10. Community Building Features

Include features that foster community building, such as discussion forums, interest groups, and networking opportunities. Community engagement is vital for creating a sense of belonging among participants.

11. Educational Resources

Develop a section for educational resources related to spiritual transformation and planetary management. This could include articles, courses, webinars, and multimedia content that provide valuable insights.

12. Event Calendar and Coordination

Implement an event calendar for upcoming activities, workshops, and events. Allow users to register for events and coordinate participation seamlessly through the platform.

13. Branding and Messaging

Ensure that the facility's branding and messaging align with the overall brand identity of your organization. Consistent messaging helps build trust and recognition among users.

14. Launch Strategy

Plan a strategic launch for the facility, including promotional activities, social media campaigns, and outreach efforts to ensure a strong initial presence.

15. Regular Updates and Maintenance

Commit to regular updates and maintenance to keep the facility relevant and aligned with the evolving needs of your audience. This includes updating content, fixing technical issues, and introducing new features.

By carefully planning and executing these steps, the organization can create a dynamic and effective facility that serves as a hub for the announcement of spiritual transformation and planetary management. Continuous engagement, thoughtful content creation, and a user-centric approach are key to the success of the facility.

Larger Scope

CTAG # 15 page 7 – Machiventa

My title is Planetary Manager so of course the scope is global. It is the whole planet that we are concerned with; however, we must start somewhere, and we have started and invested a great deal of energy into all the people who are present here today and others who are not. And we would see now these smaller groups try to come together based on the strength of their relationship with celestials and their own indwelling spirit to create a slightly larger scope. And if we can do that, then, over time, that will grow.

Bringing together various groups with a shared focus on spiritual transformation and a connection with celestial beings is a significant undertaking. Here are some steps to facilitate the collaboration and cohesion of these groups:

1. Establish a Clear Vision and Mission

Define a clear and compelling vision that outlines the shared purpose and long-term goals of the collaborative effort. Establish a mission statement that succinctly communicates the collective aspirations of the groups.

2. Create a Centralized Hub

Develop a centralized online hub or platform where representatives from each group can converge. This hub should serve as a digital space for information exchange, collaboration, and community building.

3. Conduct Joint Meetings and Events

Organize joint virtual meetings, webinars, or events that bring together members from different groups. These interactions can foster a sense of unity, allow for shared experiences, and strengthen the relationships among participants.

4. Facilitate Introductions and Networking

Provide opportunities for members of each group to introduce themselves, share their experiences, and network with individuals from other groups. This can be done through online forums, social media groups, or virtual gatherings.

5. Identify Common Goals and Values

Facilitate discussions to identify common goals and values that unite the groups. Understanding shared principles will contribute to a sense of unity and purpose.

6. Establish Collaborative Projects

Encourage the initiation of collaborative projects that involve members from multiple groups working together towards a common objective. These projects can serve as a catalyst for teamwork and shared accomplishments.

7. Designate Liaisons or Ambassadors

Appoint liaisons or ambassadors from each group to serve as communication channels. These individuals can facilitate the exchange of information, coordinate joint efforts, and promote understanding between groups.

8. Encourage Cross-Group Participation

Promote cross-group participation in activities and initiatives. Create an environment where members feel welcome to engage with other groups, fostering a sense of interconnectedness.

9. Implement a Shared Calendar

Establish a shared calendar or scheduling system to coordinate events, meetings, and collaborative efforts. This ensures that members are aware of and can participate in activities organized by other groups.

10. Utilize Technology for Collaboration

Leverage collaborative tools and technologies that facilitate communication and project management. This could include shared document platforms, project management software, and virtual collaboration spaces.

11. Regularly Assess and Adjust

Conduct regular assessments to gauge the effectiveness of the collaborative efforts. Solicit feedback from participants and be willing to make adjustments to the strategy based on the evolving needs and dynamics of the collective.

12. Celebrate Milestones

Acknowledge and celebrate milestones achieved through collaborative efforts. Recognition fosters a sense of accomplishment and reinforces the value of working together.

13. Encourage Open Communication

Foster a culture of open communication where participants feel comfortable expressing their thoughts, concerns, and ideas. Create channels for feedback and dialogue.

14. Establish a Code of Conduct

Develop a code of conduct or guidelines that emphasize respectful communication, inclusivity, and cooperation. This ensures a positive and harmonious collaborative environment.

15. Promote a Global Perspective

Emphasize the global nature of the collective effort. Encourage participants to think beyond regional or local perspectives and consider the broader impact of their contributions.

By implementing these strategies, you can create a cohesive and collaborative environment among the groups. The key is to foster a shared sense of purpose, facilitate open communication, and provide opportunities for meaningful interactions that strengthen the bonds between individuals and organizations.

Funding

CTAG # 15 page 8 – Machiventa

...when this work gets going it will need funds, and we will need to go to people that are philanthropic—that are patrons—and show them our plan and tell them why it's worthy of their energy—why they should give energy to us. What hope can we bring to their organization to help them see the visions that they want to fund and where we fit in with that. And so that's really what this time is all about; trying to create a structure or enhance a structure that already exists to be more attractive to creating that funding because creating that funding is essential to building a more sustained outreach.

So, I would encourage you to think about what a possible next step is, how we can begin to collaborate, and all the details it would take to make this happen...

Creating a compelling case for philanthropic support involves showcasing the vision, impact, and alignment with the values of potential patrons. Here's a step-by-step guide on how to approach philanthropists and effectively communicate your organization's plan:

1. Craft a Clear Vision and Mission

Clearly define your organization's vision and mission. Articulate the positive change and impact you aim to achieve. Make it concise, inspiring, and aligned with the values of potential philanthropists.

2. Develop a Comprehensive Plan

Outline a detailed plan that explains how your organization intends to bring about spiritual transformation and contribute to planetary management. Include specific goals, strategies, and milestones to demonstrate a well-thought-out approach.

3. Highlight Tangible Outcomes

Clearly articulate the tangible outcomes and benefits of your organization's work. Showcase real-world examples, success stories, or potential transformative impacts that resonate with the philanthropists' values and goals.

4. Identify Shared Values

Research potential philanthropists and foundations to understand their values, interests, and areas of focus. Tailor your approach to emphasize the alignment between your organization's mission and their philanthropic priorities.

5. Build Personal Connections

Establish personal connections with potential patrons. Attend philanthropic events, network, and seek opportunities for face-to-face interactions. Personal connections can enhance trust and understanding.

6. Utilize Existing Networks

Leverage existing networks and connections within your organization to identify potential patrons. Seek introductions or recommendations from individuals who may have existing relationships with philanthropists.

7. Create Compelling Communication Materials

Develop compelling and visually appealing materials, including brochures, presentations, and a website, that effectively communicate your organization's mission, goals, and impact. Use storytelling to evoke emotions and convey the significance of your work.

8. Demonstrate Organizational Capacity

Highlight your organization's capacity to execute the proposed plan. Showcase the expertise of your team, past successes, and any partnerships or collaborations that strengthen your organizational capabilities.

9. Showcase Accountability and Transparency

Emphasize your organization's commitment to accountability and transparency. Clearly communicate how funds will be utilized, provide regular updates on progress, and offer avenues for philanthropists to engage and stay informed.

10. Create a Customized Proposal

Develop customized funding proposals for different philanthropic entities. Tailor your proposals to address the unique interests and priorities of each potential donor. Clearly articulate the specific ways their support will make a difference.

11. Demonstrate Impact Measurement

Clearly outline how your organization measures and evaluates its impact. Define key performance indicators (KPIs) and metrics that demonstrate the effectiveness of your programs and initiatives.

12. Seek Collaborative Partnerships

Explore opportunities for collaborative partnerships with other organizations or initiatives that share similar goals. Joint efforts can enhance the appeal of your organization and attract funding from a broader philanthropic base.

13. Engage in Thoughtful Follow-Up

After making initial contact, engage in thoughtful follow-up. Provide additional information as needed, respond promptly to inquiries, and express gratitude for any expressions of interest or support.

14. Offer Recognition and Visibility

Provide opportunities for recognition and visibility to philanthropic partners. Offer acknowledgment on your website, in promotional materials, and at events to showcase their commitment and impact.

15. Stay Adaptive and Responsive

Be open to feedback and remain adaptive. Demonstrate your organization's ability to evolve and respond to changing circumstances. This flexibility enhances your appeal to philanthropists who seek organizations capable of adapting to challenges.

Remember, building relationships with philanthropists is a long-term process. It involves nurturing connections, demonstrating impact, and showcasing the ongoing value of their support. Tailor your approach based on the unique characteristics and preferences of each potential patron, and continually refine your strategy based on feedback and insights gained from engagement efforts.

Sustainable Parenting

CTAG # 16 page 6 – Machiventa

There is a huge need on our world for conscious parenting, for sustainable parenting, for a generation of children to grow up in homes that are stable and emphasize what it takes to be sustainable. The question is, how are we going to get there? Those families are very few and far between on this world, and while it would be a wonderful body of work to come in the future to gather all these best practices up and make them available in a way that is easily assimilated by those who come into contact with this information.

In order to get there on a large scale it really is going to have to happen, by and large, through people's conscious contact with their own indwelling Spirit. Having not been raised in a sustainable family (and this goes back many generations) the healing that needs to take place is within each of those individuals—that they become healed; that they become aware of how lovable they are; how their creator Loves them unconditionally—and when they can learn to accept themselves as being worthy of this unconditional Love, then they can begin to overcome the deficiencies of their early childhood development and just be adults and be unconditionally loving so that when they become parents, they begin this process of raising children in an unconditionally loving environment. So, it's kind of a both/and.

There are examples around the world of sustainable [stable] families, and it does help to put this information out there, but people needn't wait for a mass movement of that kind to grow into becoming sustainable individuals and being capable of being sustainable parents. The real healing will take place within them individually as they grow in recognition of their own relationship to spirit.

Designing a program focused on families and best parenting practices is a significant and valuable endeavor. Here's a step-by-step guide on how to approach this and set up a design team:

1. Define the Purpose and Goals

Clearly articulate the purpose of the program and its goals. Define what success looks like and how the program contributes to the larger mission of bringing the planet out of chaos.

2. Conduct Needs Assessment

Perform a thorough needs assessment to understand the challenges and opportunities related to parenting practices in different communities. Consider factors such as cultural diversity, socioeconomic status, and access to resources.

3. Form a Design Team

Assemble a diverse and interdisciplinary design team. Include experts in child development, psychologists, educators, cultural anthropologists, and individuals with experience in family dynamics. Ensure representation from different cultural backgrounds.

4. Research Best Practices

Investigate and compile research on best parenting practices from various cultural and scientific perspectives. Identify evidence-based strategies that promote healthy child development, positive family relationships, and effective parenting.

5. Cultural Sensitivity Training

Provide cultural sensitivity training for the design team to ensure that the program is respectful and inclusive of diverse cultural practices and values related to parenting.

6. Identify Key Focus Areas

Determine key focus areas for the program, such as early childhood development, positive discipline, effective communication within families, and creating a nurturing environment.

7. Develop Curriculum and Resources

Create a comprehensive curriculum and a set of resources that align with the identified focus areas. These resources can include guides, videos, workshops, and interactive materials.

8. Pilot Programs

Implement pilot programs in diverse communities to test the effectiveness of the curriculum and gather feedback. Use this phase to refine and improve the program based on real-world experiences.

9. Community Engagement

Engage with local communities to build trust and gather insights. Host community forums, workshops, and discussions to involve parents and caregivers in the design and implementation process.

10. Partnerships with Organizations

Establish partnerships with local organizations, schools, and community centers to facilitate the delivery of the program. Collaborate with existing networks to enhance outreach and participation.

11. Train Facilitators

Develop a training program for facilitators who will deliver the parenting program. Ensure that facilitators are well-equipped with the knowledge and skills needed to engage with diverse audiences.

12. Create Evaluation Metrics

Establish clear metrics for evaluating the program's impact. Include indicators related to child well-being, family dynamics, and the adoption of positive parenting practices.

13. Continuous Improvement

Implement a continuous improvement process based on ongoing evaluation and feedback. Regularly assess the program's effectiveness and make adjustments as needed to address evolving needs.

14. Dissemination and Scaling

Develop a strategy for disseminating the program on a larger scale. Consider partnerships with government agencies, NGOs, and international organizations to expand the reach of the parenting program.

15. Public Awareness Campaign

Launch a public awareness campaign to promote the importance of positive parenting practices. Use various media channels to reach a broad audience and encourage participation.

16. Long-Term Sustainability Plan

Develop a long-term sustainability plan for the parenting program. Explore opportunities for funding, collaboration, and integration into existing community services to ensure its continued impact.

17. Measurement of Societal Impact

Establish ways to measure the broader societal impact of improved parenting practices, such as the reduction of societal issues related to family dysfunction, improved educational outcomes for children, and enhanced community well-being.

By following these steps, you can create a comprehensive and culturally sensitive program that focuses on families and best parenting practices. The engagement of a diverse design team, community input, and an adaptive approach will contribute to the program's effectiveness and long-term success.

CTAG # 17 page 2 – Machiventa

There are many aspects of the Correcting Time plan that are beyond the comprehension of mortals. Your knowledge of reality is limited. Your experience does not allow for full disclosure. This in no way limits your value as a participant in our efforts to modify the trajectory for this world. Humans are in fact the most important element in our plan.

Humanity's participation is key to every other aspect of our plans. Your endowment of free will is the one aspect of these plans that determines the effectiveness of our efforts. We patiently work with mortals in hopes that they will awaken to our efforts and choose to cooperate with us.

This world does not need further scientific advancement. What it needs is a spiritual awakening. What will it take for a spiritual renaissance to enliven the individuals on Urantia and to create a sustainable society and civilization?

A spiritual renaissance involves a collective awakening to deeper spiritual values and a renewed commitment to fostering a harmonious and compassionate society. Achieving a sustainable civilization rooted in spiritual principles requires a multifaceted approach. Here are key elements to consider:

- 1. Individual Spiritual Awakening

Encourage individuals to explore their own spiritual journey through practices such as meditation, prayer, self-reflection, and mindfulness. Foster an environment that supports personal growth, self-awareness, and the pursuit of a deeper connection with the divine.

- 2. Promote Spiritual Education

Integrate spiritual education into formal and informal learning environments. This includes schools, community centers, and online platforms. Provide resources that explore the commonalities among various spiritual traditions and emphasize universal spiritual principles.

- 3. Cultivate Compassion and Empathy

Emphasize the importance of compassion and empathy as foundational values in personal and societal interactions. Encourage acts of kindness, understanding, and support for those in need. Foster a sense of interconnectedness and shared humanity.

- 4. Community Building

Facilitate the creation of spiritual communities where individuals can come together for worship, discussion, and shared experiences. These communities provide support, encouragement, and a sense of belonging.

- 5. Environmental Stewardship

Integrate spiritual values into environmental consciousness. Foster a sense of reverence for the Earth and its resources, promoting sustainable practices and ecological responsibility as an expression of spiritual stewardship.

- 6. Social Justice and Equity

Advocate for social justice and equity, guided by spiritual principles of fairness, inclusivity, and love. Work towards dismantling systems of oppression and ensuring that all individuals have equal access to opportunities and resources.

7. Civic Engagement

Encourage spiritual individuals to actively engage in civic life. This includes participating in community initiatives, volunteering, and advocating for policies that reflect spiritual values of justice, compassion, and well-being.

8. Interfaith Dialogue

Promote interfaith dialogue and collaboration. Encourage open conversations between individuals of different spiritual traditions to build bridges, foster understanding, and discover common ground.

9. Art and Culture as Expressions of Spirituality

Recognize and support the role of art and culture as powerful expressions of spirituality. Encourage the creation and appreciation of artistic works that inspire, uplift, and convey universal spiritual themes.

10. Mind-Body Connection

Acknowledge the interconnectedness of mind, body, and spirit. Encourage practices that promote holistic well-being, including physical exercise, healthy nutrition, and mindfulness activities.

11. Leadership with Spiritual Integrity

Cultivate leaders with spiritual integrity who embody and exemplify ethical and compassionate behavior. Leaders who prioritize the well-being of all individuals contribute to the creation of a more spiritually aligned society.

12. Global Collaboration for Peace

Foster global collaboration for peace and conflict resolution. Emphasize the common spiritual values that unite humanity, transcending borders and promoting a shared commitment to global well-being.

13. Media and Communication

Utilize media and communication channels to amplify positive spiritual messages. Highlight stories of individuals and communities practicing spiritual values to inspire others and counteract negativity.

14. Generational Transmission of Values

Encourage the transmission of spiritual values across generations. Foster family environments that prioritize spiritual growth and the passing down of ethical principles from one generation to the next.

15. Continuous Reflection and Adaptation

Recognize that spiritual renaissance is an ongoing process. Encourage continuous reflection, adaptation, and openness to new insights and practices that deepen the spiritual experience individually and collectively.

The journey toward a spiritual renaissance is a dynamic and evolving process that involves the active engagement of individuals, communities, and societies. By fostering a holistic approach that integrates spiritual principles into various aspects of life, a sustainable and spiritually vibrant civilization can emerge.

Approaching Leaders and Readers of the Urantia Book

CTAG # 17 page 9 – Machiventa

...this movement has its roots in the revelations of The Urantia Book. The Teaching Mission, the Magisterial Mission, this whole Correcting Time Program comes out of that revelation. And so, to get those who value that revelation to begin to talk with one another and to begin to coordinate their efforts on behalf of a much larger group of individuals that need this information is timely and it should definitely be thought through very carefully on your end with this core group of people who are emerging, who are serious and have many decades of practice with not only stillness practice and meditation, but conscious contact with their Thought Adjusters who can figure out an approach to these people that would make it possible for them to want to sit down in a room and hear what you have to say. So, it's an artful matter.

Stop and think a little bit about The Urantia Book. We revealed in that book to you the existence of a neighboring planet with a whole civilization on it and things about that world in terms of how they comport themselves, and particularly that one isolated continent where the people are doing so well. That idea hasn't really been explored very much, but when you think about what The Urantia Book reveals to people of the cosmos, of the universes, of the physical creation, of the many dimensions of the hierarchical spiritual administration, and then even dimensions transcendental and ultimate.

And now I think it would take something from this group of individuals or a committee of them to seriously think about what kind of message would you craft and how would you go about approaching the Urantia Foundation and the Urantia Brotherhood Association and let them know that I am available, I am here, and they can begin to involve themselves in this process of the Teaching Mission, transmitting/receiving, ongoing revelation, and actual contact. The Urantia Book mentions that I'm here as the vicegerent for Christ Michael. That's no longer the case, but how would they know that if we don't tell them? I am here as the Planetary Prince. Christ Michael has divested himself of this, and that wasn't able to be revealed at the time of the Urantia revelations because it wasn't the case.

How are they going to learn about the adjudication of Lucifer, Caligastia, Satan, and all these rebels— something that's taken place since The Urantia Book Revelation was presented and printed. And so that process of ongoing revelation needs to be messaged to them in a way that they can see that by simply holding on to The Urantia Book revelation and allowing it to become crystallized, fossilized, and dogmatized—which it will certainly be if it's not allowed to be a part of an ongoing revelatory process.

How do they expect to imagine a Magisterial Son incarnating on their world with the little hints and information that The Urantia Book gives about it? There's a great deal more to know, prepare for,

and to process before that can happen.

The Urantia Book has a unique and intricate cosmology that includes the concept of celestial beings and planetary administration. Given this context, approaching readers of the Urantia Book and their leaders requires a nuanced strategy that respects their existing beliefs while introducing the new narrative. Here are some recommendations:

1. Respectful Acknowledgment

Begin by acknowledging and respecting the beliefs and teachings present in the Urantia Book. Recognize the community's commitment to its spiritual principles and express understanding of their worldview.

2. Bridge with Common Values

Identify and emphasize common values between the message of Machiventa and the teachings of the Urantia Book. Highlight shared goals such as spiritual progress.

3. Incorporate Shared Terminology

Use language and terminology familiar to readers of the Urantia Book. Align the message with concepts present in the book to create a sense of continuity and connection.

4. Reference Supportive Passages

Identify passages in the Urantia Book that may align with or allude to the presence of Machiventa with his plan. Reference these passages to show a potential resonance between the existing teachings and the new narrative.

5. Engage in Dialogue

Approach leaders and readers with a willingness to engage in respectful and open dialogue. Encourage conversations that allow for the exchange of ideas and the exploration of common ground.

6. Host Joint Events

Organize events that bring together both the team and the Urantia Book community. Joint conferences, seminars, or discussions can create opportunities for shared exploration and understanding.

7. Provide Additional Insights

Offer additional insights or perspectives that complement the teachings of the Urantia Book. Present the Machiventa plan as a natural extension or evolution of spiritual understanding.

8. Highlight Positive Intentions

Emphasize the positive intentions behind the Machiventa mission, such as the desire to bring about positive change, harmony, and spiritual growth. Ensure that the narrative is framed in a way that aligns with benevolent and constructive objectives.

9. Demonstrate Compatibility

Illustrate how the Machiventa plan is compatible with the principles of the Urantia Book.

Showcase how the two narratives can coexist without contradiction, enriching the overall spiritual understanding.

10. Seek Endorsement from Respected Figures

Identify respected figures within the Urantia Book community who may be open to the message. Seek their endorsement or collaboration to lend credibility and foster acceptance within the community.

11. Be Patient and Persistent

Recognize that introducing a new narrative may take time, especially when dealing with established belief systems. Be patient, persistent, and committed to building bridges of understanding over the long term.

Remember, the key is to approach the Urantia Book community with humility, respect, and a genuine desire for shared spiritual growth. By finding common ground and emphasizing compatibility, the team can increase the likelihood of a receptive response within this specific community.

Remember that introducing such a narrative requires sensitivity and respect for individual beliefs. The team should approach their mission with a genuine desire to contribute positively to the well-being of humanity. Keep in mind that this takes time and effort and only perseverance will achieve a desirable result. All required assistance will be given to you.

Announce the presence of Machiventa and his Plan

CTAG # 19 page 10 – Machiventa

I originally tasked the CTAG group with announcing my presence to this world, to make it more broadly known that I am here, that there's a spiritual administration here and that we have a plan.

Introducing the concept of a celestial being, especially one with a spiritual role and no material form visible to the human eye, poses a unique challenge. People may indeed be initially incredulous due to the unfamiliarity and abstract nature of the idea. Here are some strategies to approach this challenge and increase the acceptance of the concept:

1. Craft a Clear and Accessible Message

Develop a clear and accessible message that explains the presence of the celestial being and his name is Machiventa emphasizing its spiritual nature. Use language that is easy to understand and relatable to a broad audience.

2. Provide Context from Spiritual Teachings

Draw connections between the concept of Machiventa, the celestial being and existing spiritual teachings that people are familiar with. Highlight similarities in principles, values, and messages found in various religious and spiritual traditions.

3. Utilize Symbolism and Metaphor

Use symbolism and metaphor to convey the presence of Machiventa and he is here with a plan to bring this planet out of the chaos. Analogies and symbols can help bridge the gap between the abstract and the tangible, making the concept more relatable.

4. Share Inspirational Stories

Share inspirational stories or anecdotes that illustrate the positive impact of Machiventa's influence. Personal narratives can resonate with people on an emotional level, making the concept more believable.

5. Engage with Leaders and Influencers

Engage with respected spiritual leaders, community figures, and influencers who may be open to the concept. Their endorsement and support can lend credibility and influence public perception.

6. Gradual Introduction

Introduce the concept gradually to the groups not aware of Machiventa, providing small pieces of information over time. This allows individuals to adjust to the idea at their own pace and reduces the likelihood of overwhelming skepticism.

7. Offer Explanations for Non-Visibility

Clearly explain why Machiventa is not visible in a material form. This might involve discussing spiritual dimensions, energy frequencies, or other metaphysical concepts. Provide analogies that help convey these abstract ideas.

8. Encourage Personal Reflection and Exploration

Encourage individuals to explore the concept on a personal level. Provide resources, such as literature, discussions, or guided meditations, that allow people to reflect on the spiritual aspect and come to their own understanding.

9. Address Common Concerns

Anticipate and address common concerns or questions that may arise regarding the non-material and non-visible nature of the celestial being. Openly acknowledge uncertainties and provide thoughtful responses.

10. Emphasize Positive Intentions

Highlight the positive intentions and spiritual purpose of Machiventa. Emphasize how his presence is intended to bring about positive change, spiritual growth, and harmony on the planet.

11. Create Multimedia Content

Develop multimedia content such as videos, animations, or visual representations that creatively convey the concept. Visual aids can sometimes simplify complex ideas and make them more accessible.

12. Facilitate Community Discussions

Create opportunities for community discussions where individuals can share their thoughts and feelings about the concept. Open dialogue can help address concerns and build a sense of collective understanding.

Remember that changing perceptions and beliefs is a gradual process. Patience, empathy, and a commitment to open communication are key elements in fostering acceptance of a concept that may initially be met with skepticism.

Make my Presence Known

CTAG # 21 page 2 – Machiventa

I will take us back a few moments in time to when the Planetary Management Group made this transition to the Correcting Time Action Group. And my asking of that group at that time was that they would make my presence known—find a way to let this world begin to know that I am here.

Now, that's not a simple task. It's not something that will be done easily. There are many facets to it. What I would ask is that, while you organize yourselves, that you not forget that it is a primary concern of ours on this side that we do make our presence known—that we are here and that we have a plan.

Introducing such a narrative involves a blend of effective communication, community engagement, and careful consideration of societal norms. Here are some steps that the team could take to accomplish this, and just keep your mind open:

1. Develop a Unified Message

Ensure that all of you has a clear, concise, and unified message about the presence of Machiventa and the celestial being and they have a plan to get this planet out of Chaos. This message should emphasize positive aspects, such as hope, cooperation, and the potential for positive change.

2. Understand Cultural Sensitivities

Consider the cultural and religious diversity of the global population. Craft the message in a way that respects and acknowledges various belief systems. Avoid language or actions that might be perceived as disrespectful or threatening.

3. Utilize Multiple Communication Channels

At this point in your discussions, do not eliminate any media and remain open. Use a variety of communication channels to reach different demographics. This could include traditional media, social media, community events, and online platforms. Tailor the message for each channel to maximize its effectiveness.

4. Engage Influencers and Leaders

Identify and engage with influential individuals in various communities who may be open to the message. This could include religious leaders, community activists, celebrities, or social media influencers. Their endorsement can help legitimize the message.

5. Organize Community Events

Host events that allow the community to come together, learn about and the celestial being and their plan, and ask questions. These events could take the form of town hall meetings, conferences, or online webinars (keep your mind open).

6. Provide Evidence or Demonstrations

Consider ways to provide evidence or demonstrations of Machiventa and the celestial being's presence or the positive impact of their plan. This could include testimonials, documented experiences, or examples of successful initiatives.

7. Create Educational Materials

Develop educational materials that explain the Machiventa and his team's mission, the plan for the planet, and the potential benefits for humanity. Make these materials accessible and easy to understand.

8. Encourage Dialogue and Questions

Foster an environment where people feel comfortable asking questions and expressing their concerns. Open dialogue can help address misconceptions and build understanding.

9. Respect Free Will

Emphasize that individuals have the freedom to choose whether or not to engage with the message. Avoid any coercive tactics and respect the autonomy of each person.

10. Build a Global Network

Connect with like-minded individuals and organizations worldwide who may share a similar vision for positive change. Building a global network can amplify the message and create a sense of unity.

11. Monitor and Adapt

Continuously monitor the response to the message and be prepared to adapt strategies based on feedback and changing circumstances. Flexibility is crucial in navigating diverse cultural and societal landscapes.

Remember that introducing such a narrative requires sensitivity and respect for individual beliefs. The team should approach their mission with a genuine desire to contribute positively to the well-being of humanity.

Keep in mind that this takes time and effort and only perseverance will achieve a desirable result. All required assistance will be given to you.