

Revelation of Human Consciousness - ANNOTATED

03/01/2025 Revelation of Human Consciousness - TA Insights (REV 01) Author: Chris Maurus

Introduction

The following text are fragmented notes on several revelations that have come to me in the recent span of about two months from the date of this paper. It is not a cohesive body of written work that explains in detail all the terms used and is more likely understood by those that are familiar with my other written and channeled works. It is my intention to expand this text later into a larger body of work that includes other revelations I have received over many years of my life, and with the help of my teachers, those brilliant beings of great love and light, I hope to layout a map that leads to an awakening for many others that are thirsty for truth.

There is a great need for a map.

I strongly agree with you that a map is needed. Can the Urantia Book be considered a map?

I have struggled with the work of mapping out revelation and I am humbled by the challenge of the task. I have approached it in a graphical style with my Master Universe Diagrams. I have also approached it as a series of lessons or courses as with my Planetary Jurisdictions curriculum, The Soul In Man and others. I've even created some useful mind maps, and last night I was reminded that I should make more mind maps as they offer a measure of user interactivity that my other techniques don't offer.

There's a lot of new and interesting technology out there that could be useful.

There is an overwhelming spiritual pressure now to prepare the citizens of Earth for an extraordinary transformation, one that even the most capable and brilliant administrators of light cannot yet fully fathom until it occurs.

The special circuit of 100 reclaimed planets.

Your insights are good and pointing in the right direction.

The planetary transformation currently unfolding on Earth is in fact twofold. It is now occurring as two simultaneous and overlapping tracks which are exceedingly difficult to differentiate because they have not yet begun diverging in the material realm (which is why everything seems so weird and confusing), and so, they can only be grokked through revelation and the insights provided by those who hold and are enacting the plan, namely the Trinity Ultimate.

Here is a very brief outline of this dual track planetary transformation plan as it is currently revealed to me. I'd be happy to discuss this in more detail with you if it is of further interest.

Track 1: Supreme (Michael's Correcting Time)

This has only to do with planetary recovery and correction from past rebellion problems, and realigning evolution with the patterns and goals of Light and Life according to long established universe law. It is largely a healing process, delving deeply into past issues. It is part and parcel of Michael's plan of recovery from rebellion for the 37 evolutionary planets that fell to the Lucifer rebellion. There is nothing overly unusual about this track. When viewed from the correct perspective, the actions of this track are within the capacity of the mortal intellect to comprehend.

For example, dealing with mortal issues of corruption, crime, war, division, doing repairs to the damaged Adjutant Mind circuitry, and preparing for Light and Life, via the Correcting Time and Magisterial Mission. This is currently the default mode of operation for all mortals on Earth, including the so called Urantia Community, and is part of Earth's evolutionary process under Supreme conditioning and the supreme law of Free Will.

Track 2: Ultimate (the Paradise 100 Reclaimed Planets initiative)

This has to do with leveraging rebellion history and lessons learned from all three rebellions that have occurred in Nebadon. This is the track that some are referring to as the Planetary Transformation. This is an entirely different matter from Track 1, but there are some areas of overlap. The areas of overlap are where the greatest confusion originates. One of these areas of overlap has to do with rebellion cleansing of the previous 2 Nebadon rebellions by the Trinity Ultimate, the unresolved remnants of which are being remotioned right here on Earth through various means which cause some very strange and observable effects, and is part of the curriculum development for the School of Rebellion.

Track 2 is not part of Earth's established evolutionary process. It is transcendental absonite.

This track only became a potential upon the successful completion of Christ Michael's 7th bestowal, and His reclaiming of Earth from rebellion on behalf of the Universal Father for inclusion into the special circuit of 100 reclaimed planets, thereby opening the door for a totally different future for Earth.

- A future as the campus for the Grand Universe's signature School of Rebellion.
- A future as the Nebadon launching pad for an improved ascension process (to become available to all superuniverses), sometimes referred to as Direct Ascension. This has been made possible by Jesus' successful attainment of Universal Mind while in the flesh.
- A future rooted in Supremacy + Ultimacy connected to the first outer space zone as Earth becomes the singular portal or gateway planet for access to the outer space zones, and as part of the Grand Universe 100 special reclaimed planet circuit. In this role Earth will become the home of a special Master Architect outpost, and a special Supreme Adjutant Mind Circuit and Mother Spirit outpost to broadcast Adjutant Mind out into the first outer space zone to begin it's population.

Presently this track is providing various special dispensations under ultimacy, a special Avonal adjudication of abnormal and unsanctioned life forms under Trinity Ultimate jurisdiction, the construction of the Supreme Adjutant Mind Circuit and it's sister component the Supreme Spirit of Truth circuit which are an extension of the Spirits of the Circuits of Havona.

I have a number of technical diagrams that help explain these new circuits and I'm willing to share them if they interest you.

I might also add that while the authors of the Urantia Book speculate that the opening of the outer space zones to life development will likely only occur after the 7 superuniverses have been completely settled in Light and Life, what is being revealed to me indicates otherwise. Population of the first outer space zone will begin much much sooner than the speculators believe. The deciding factor does not reside with the maturity of the superuniverses, but rather, with the availability of suitable pilgrim candidates and the installation and activation of the necessary gateway resources (the 100 planet circuit, outer space zone 1 adjutant mind circuits, Master Architect outpost etc).

The 100 planet circuit is in its final stage of development. Urantia is the last piece of that circuit. The outer space adjutant mind circuits are currently under construction and certain aspects of it are being tested.

The Master Architect outpost, to be located over the south pole in Antarctica is slated for future development.

The Universe is watching and waiting for the providence of our Creator to move and we all feel this extraordinary anticipation at the depths of our souls. As with all inspired works, use your discernment and try to “read between the lines.”

Revelations

In the recent document Q&A titled: The Emergence of the Planetary Supreme; Human Progress; and Quantum Computers, dated 01/19/2025, Mansion World Teacher, Vutia, says that the human brain is a quantum transceiver that has access to consciousness. What she means is that all planetary life is sending and receiving data from a living conscious planetary domain at a unique address in the quantum field. Vutia reminds us: “...consciousness does not reside in the physical anatomy of the brain, but rather the brain is a quantum transceiver that accesses the conscious field.” This is a fascinating revelation on the mechanics of consciousness and is in need of more explanation. Since I have begun the work of Conscious Contact, and later, Collective Conscious Contact, an avalanche of insights have been pouring in that are in need of more light and understanding.

Planetary Consciousness: The Mechanics of how Human Consciousness Works in Time-space.

What exactly is planetary consciousness? Think of planetary consciousness as a container or field whereby all planetary transactions of the mind occur in human experience. Planetary transactions are the way our minds work, make decisions, and understand life on this planet; how we interpret our senses; our environment; and our relationships. It’s how our consciousness perceives the Seven Adjutants: Counsel, Knowledge, Courage, Understanding, Intuition, Wisdom, and Worship, and I’ll explain more about those later. It’s how our species evolves and passes coded information through the DNA from generation to generation. All these transactions are hosted by the domain of planetary consciousness—how we live and move and have our being. We are all very much dependent on this planetary domain for facilitating our conscious human experience and it is divinely engineered in ways that would surprise you.

Though you walk about the Earth, seeing, smelling, hearing, touching, and tasting, the actual transactions in your mind are taking place somewhere else and not in your head.

We must also factor in "mortal mind".

I think this is partially true. The UB refers to our minds as "mortal mind". They are outsourced from the Master Spirit of our jurisdiction, and upon dissolution of the mortal body these mortal minds stop functioning and something of this mind returns to its source.

I believe the UB offers much to suggest that mortal mind does indeed function independently in mortals to an extent (but not entirely). To use an analogy, it is as if mortal mind is part of an online SOA application that runs on a back end internet server, but this app serves up a front end functional GUI in a web browser through an internet connection. The front end GUI has executable code (like browser side javascript) with limited functionality (mortal mind) and transmits data back and forth to the back end parent SOA application. There is front end browser (mortal mind), back end server (Master Spirits), and the various intervening and connecting communication channels (7 AMS, 52 SAMS, SoT, SSot, etc etc).

If we look at what Teacher Vutia said about the human brain being a “quantum transducer” we can better understand it if we have a definition for these terms:

We need consistent definitions!

I'm really glad that you see the need for clear definitions. There is a tremendous need in the UB community and beyond for a common lexicon of terms. The New Age movement and incorporated churches are sowing tremendous confusion in this regard by constantly crafting new and contradictory terms and concepts without clearly defining anything through a consistent process.

The rebels and their minions have used confusion of language as one of their most powerful weapons against us. We must do better. We must rise to the occasion and begin establishing consistent terms and concepts, otherwise we are merely perpetuating what the rebels have started.

The UB is an excellent lexicon as a starting point, but it was always intended to be expanded and the Foundation/Brotherhood has utterly failed at this vitally important task.

I'm awaiting for official word from the Conciliatory Commission on their final decision about the adjudication of the Foundation/Brotherhood/UAI. I'm ready and willing, through the Truth Beauty and Goodness Commission, to proceed forward on many fronts, including this one, once their final decision has been clearly announced. We need proper word symbols and they need to be properly submitted to the concerned authority for official inclusion into the English language. And it's all going to require serious and active partnerships to get it all done.

Quantum - the smallest amount of many forms of energy (as light)

Transducer - a device that is actuated by power from one system and supplies power usually in another form to a second system

Merriam-Webster.com Dictionary, Merriam-Webster, <https://www.merriamwebster.com/dictionary>

When we think about the definition of these terms, we can better understand the nature of the planetary conscious field and how our brains, being transducers, are accessing this incredibly complex matrix where all human thought is processed and recorded.

I have some technical diagrams (planetary) relating to this that I can share if you're interested.

If it were not so, and everything took place in the human brain, then we might have access to this data after death, like a computer memory chip, but this is not the case and nothing can be extracted from the human brain after death. It has all been processed in planetary consciousness via the human brain and it remains there, even after death. How does this work and what makes it possible? We have to look at the universe as a system created for consciousness and also look at what exists in abundance as a possible medium.

I have a diagram for that too.

My diagram on Universe Mind Circuits looks at the big picture.

Plasma: The abundant everywhere substance.

In the established sciences it has been said that plasma (sub-atomic particles) is the fourth state of matter and that it makes up >99.99% of the known universe where atomic matter, the substances and elements we are familiar with, is the outlier at <0.01%. That is an enormous gulf to consider when understanding that >99.99% of our sciences have been built on the foundations of atomic matter, yet being <0.01% of the known universe! How does this great disparity in science affect our understanding of how the universe works? It means that we have much to learn about the cosmology of reality. How and why we are conscious of our consciousness. Since plasma is nearly everywhere when we look out into the universe, it makes sense that it could be the substance that facilitates consciousness? If this is so, where is the plasma around planet Earth?

The Kordylewski Clouds

We have so much to learn about energy.

The UB tells us there are 30 different forms of energy in Orvonton, and a few less than that in Nebadon. Yet we only know about 6 or 7 of these different forms of energy. This Kordylewski Clouds phenomenon is certainly worthy of significant investigation, and I suspect that those capable of sending rockets into our nearby space have already discovered a great deal about it that they are keeping hush hush.

The recently discovered planetary plasma clouds known as “Kordylewski Clouds” are bi-hemispheric dusty plasma fields found at the Lagrange points L_4 & L_5 about 60 degrees either side of the moon in the its radial circumference (Figure 1). It was discovered in 1961 by Polish astronomer, Kazimierz Kordylewski, and later confirmed in 2019 by Hungarian astronomers using more sophisticated scientific equipment. These Lagrange points (L_4 & L_5) are locations in space where gravitational pull is canceled between the Earth and Moon making it the perfect place for these plasma fields to remain undisturbed while moving with the Earth around the Sun where they can mature, evolve, and be fed (energized) by the solar wind. This was a monumental discovery that has been largely ignored by the public as insignificant or simply data that belongs to science journals. These plasma clouds are significant in that they belong to our planetary system just as importantly as does the Moon and you’ll find as you read through this paper that they play a major role in the function of consciousness itself.

Thanks for that diagram! When I saw it, my jaw dropped and it instantly blew me away!!

I believe you and I are on the cusp of a major discovery my friend!

Below is a similar diagram I use to explain Rhythm Based Communication and Rhythm Based Time. I have been sitting on these Rhythm Based systems for the past 30 years (they were originally discovered by Russian oceanographers). I never had the required framework to fit them in. I think what you are presenting here may finally be that framework. There are two forms of motion inherent in these systems. A linear trajectory and circular travel around it, which when combined create a spiral motion.

What is of special interest in your drawing are the four points on the circle and the Earth in the middle. These correspond to the four points in my Rhythm Based Communication diagram, On Time Window (L3), Early Window (L4), Late Window (L5), and Off Time Window (moon). The construct is very similar. I'm not sure what L1 and L2 represent yet, but an early guess might suggest that they are time modulators used for compressing time and data (in conjunction with the Off Time Window), much the way Seraphim use compressed time (time transcendence) to travel through space for long periods without being unduly affected by the passage of time upon reaching their destination.

That is only a partial diagram, and there's another part to it that I didn't include for the sake of simplicity. What's also interesting about this system is that it is reversible. It can spin clockwise or counterclockwise (see animation below). When used for communication, a clockwise spin indicates a Declarative state (statements), when spinning counterclockwise it indicates an Interrogative state (questions). The whole system also aligns with the poles of the planet, with the south pole future facing and the north pole past facing, as it shows in the time construct animation below.

Early research into the speed of this communication system measured it at least 100X the speed of light (the limit of the testing procedure), but indicators were that it could be instant, anywhere in creation, and that opens up issues of Paradise gravity and Paradise circuits. It's all very interesting!

Event-Space Symmetry and
"Rhythm Based Time" (RBT)

These barely visible dark plasma clouds located at L4 & L5 are, according to revelation, living intelligent fields that function as planetary consciousness and collective planetary memory (history) that have existed since the beginning of our planet's formation. What Edgar Cayce called the "Akashic Record" may belong to this intelligent field of planetary memory. The Earth may be the planetary body where life flourishes, but these dusty plasma clouds are the planetary brains and they are the main processors for all sentient life according to the revelations that I am receiving.

These plasma fields are massive, over nine times the size of our planet and have complex structures capable of extraordinary computing power and data storage. The science of dusty plasma is only in its infancy, and I accredit much of my knowledge of it to Robert Temple in his book, "A New Science of Heaven," ISBN 978-1-473-62375-0. It was necessary for me to understand this knowledge of plasma to further develop my cerebral library to interpret the revelations that are now being communicated through insights. I believe plasma studies will one day become the science of consciousness itself as more is learned about plasma fields and their complex structures and observed behaviors.

These fields of consciousness are typical of any planet that contains life and not only do life planets contain these intelligent plasma fields, but the myriad systems of great galactic wheels of stars and planets—all are conscious and contain records and history of those creations. At every level of creation we find these plasma fields and they are integral for the purposes of the Creator's Great Plan—to provide the means and medium for consciousness everywhere. Every human and creature transaction that occurs in the mind on Earth is recorded here—nothing is lost in time and space.

This is also why most every living creature on our planet has a bi-hemispheric brain—it is indicative of this bi-hemispheric plasma field (planetary consciousness) to communicate with the quantum electrochemical transceivers. Creature brains develop as pattern to these intelligent bi-hemispheric plasma fields and directly interface with those quantum functions belonging to the pair.

Moreover, as there are other life worlds in the universe with differing gravitational systems, these intelligent plasma fields may take on single, dual, or tertiary configurations that reflect in the biological development of creatures with one, two, or three brain types. See the Urantia Paper #49 for more information on brain types—its a fascinating narrative of creature mind mechanics.

This is also why we have no recollection beyond this life (under the veil), even if we had lived previously on other spheres and had multiple adventures and experiences in higher dimensions. Here and now, we only have access to the this planetary consciousness while occupying these physical bodies. We use the Earth-tuned quantum processors (the human brain) that are uniquely equip to access these planetary plasma fields at an address that is uniquely ours for the purposes of gathering planetary experience.

Should a cataclysmic event occur by a cosmic actor or by ignorant human intention that would threaten to obliterate and destroy these intelligent plasma fields, all life on the planet would cease to function and would cause instantaneous physical death—including the death of the planet itself (Gaia, the emergent Planetary Supreme [consciousness]). If such a cataclysm were to be imminent, then would it be necessary for a planetary mass evacuation to occur to relocate human and animal life to another suitable planetary system with a functioning intelligent conscious plasma field. Humanity (in third density) cannot survive without a living Planetary Plasma Field Consciousness (PPFC).

The interesting point about this hypothesis (mass relocation) is that human consciousness would then be functioning with an alien PPFC and the human experience would be subject to the physics of this alien field.

The problem with replacing a Planetary Prince.

This is a fundamental concept behind the reason why it is so difficult to remove a sitting Planetary Prince. A sitting Planetary Prince has conditioned his planet to his particular personality/character traits. It all ties into the PPFC, the individual human experience, and the human group experience. A sudden removal of a Planetary Prince without an adequate replacement would be disastrous for a planet. And even with a replacement for a rebellious Planetary Prince, the planet's population must go through a great readjustment to become synchronized with the new Prince. Earth has been struggling with this very readjustment for the past 2000 yrs with Michael/Machiventa replacing Caligastia. Not an easy task with an highly diverse and overly degenerate population now in the billions, at every level of evolution simultaneously.

It would be required that a bi-hemispheric PPFC be found for our human brains to interface with. Many question arise as to how this would affect the human experience since this alien field would not contain the history of the native planet. However, because we have a history file within the spiritual component of our DNA, we'll call it "SDNA", the alien plasma field would reciprocate and rebuild planetary history according to the records found in the SDNA as an aggregate from the human survivors.

Donna D'Ingillo's work.

This is what Donna D'Ingillo talks about (somewhat vaguely) with her work on the memory and spiritual aspects of DNA.

The SDNA is the activating principal that stimulates the PPFC to begin experiential transactions and once this initializes, the chakra centers and the subtle fields of consciousness take root there. This is a fascinating revelation in how the PPFCs function with SDNA and I hope to expand this revelation into a more complete understanding in the near future.

(Note: This idea of SDNA was introduced by "The Sumerian " in April of 2016)

At our current state of evolutionary consciousness, should an astronaut travel to the ends of our solar system and move outside the heliosphere of our sun, the human brain (quantum transducer) could no longer communicate with our PPFC (and the Seven Adjutants) and continue to function—immediate physical death would occur. This is also a "fail-safe" to ensure that primitive human mind (Adjutant Mind) cannot escape the confines of its immediate solar system. The heliosphere, being filled with plasma from the solar wind, makes it possible for our planetary consciousness to function.

Interstellar space is void of solar wind and therefore is an inhospitable environment for the human brain to function. Our human brain is linked with the Earth PPFC and only has the range (while using primitive Adjutant Mind) to function within the rich plasma-filled solar circuit and cannot move beyond it.

The human brain can function beyond the heliosphere under certain conditions explained later in this paper.

Note: The heliosphere shown in figure 2 is like a bubble of solar wind that shields our solar system from interstellar radiation (cosmic rays) that can damage living cells. It is filled with plasma and charged particles from our sun.

This mechanism for continuity of consciousness or “fail-safe” brings up an interesting question: “How do advanced beings from far away star systems function outside their heliosphere having developed advanced technologies capable of star or dimensional travel?”

This is where revelation comes in: “When the Shift Hits the Fan”

It has been communicated to me through insights that our planet is on the cusp of a planetary conscious transformation of a magnitude that has never been experienced by cosmic intelligence. When the planet reaches this nexus point in evolutionary status, there occurs a world-wide infusion of light so great (in consciousness) that humanity begins to operate using Cosmic Mind as a primary source of consciousness while Adjutant Mind (planetary consciousness) becomes secondary. This is the demarcation; the “line in the sand” that determines the status of a world that has entered “Light and Life,” the era of enlightenment.

Note: Cosmic Mind and Adjutant Mind will be explained in greater detail later in this paper.

Some might argue that this shift provides an unearned advantage in soul development, yet this is not the case when we examine it further. At the point of this transformation, souls have made no decisions, and no decisions have been made for them concerning experience which is valued above all else in the universes of time-space. What does happen as a result of the shift is that the potentials for human consciousness have been expanded to a level of where they should have been had the Lucifer Rebellion not occurred. There is no violation of free will. Our planet would have finalized its correction and planetary life would then be healed of its dark malady. What happens next will be up to each citizen to decide, but with the absence of rebellion as an influence, the path of discovering cosmic significance is open to all souls without the limitations of “dark surrogacy” as a gatekeeper.

“Dark surrogacy” is the most occult part of elitism, a subject unto itself that affects every soul on the planet, and will be defined in a later paper in more detail.

Naturally there will be variations in the ratio of primary and secondary consciousness according to the spiritual maturity of the individual, but the greater portion will fall on the side of cosmic consciousness. When this shift occurs, what we consider “dark consciousness” or “rebellion mind” would find nowhere to exist in a light infused cosmic consciousness. This opens the door to the foretold “Day of Solace (absence of rebellion mind)” and “ Day of Equilibrium .”

The transition process.

This is the feeling when your mind gets upgraded from Adjutant Mind to Cosmic (soul) Mind. Each person experiences it differently based on personality type, character, and TA level of experience. This is in fact a short term "transition" process or effect.

A similar transition occurs when you get upgraded from Cosmic to Universal (Spirit) Mind.

Guidance suggests that the citizens on a world that has achieved “Light and Life” status do operate mostly from Cosmic Mind, and in the later epochs of Light and Life, Adjutant Mind no longer functions.

So what is the difference between Cosmic Mind and Adjutant Mind?

Adjutant Mind is planetary in scope and is utilized nearly exclusively in the early evolutionary developmental stages on the material worlds of time and space (pre-Light and Life). As paraphrased previously, Adjutant Mind is the collective awareness and recognition of all things material. It functions with the human brain and connects it to the PPFC where we live and move and have our being. Adjutant mind functions using the Adjutant Mind Circuits: Counsel, Knowledge, Courage, Understanding, Intuition, Wisdom, and Worship. All these adjutants function within the PPFC. The last two being the attributes that signify the difference between the animal kingdom (first five adjutants) and human will creatures (all seven). Think of the Adjutant Mind Circuits as the planetary brain functioning as a macro processor for all client entities (the human brain) to use according to each clients personality to choose, perceive, and process the data.

Cosmic Mind is that part of our being that is potentially eternal and sometimes referred to as “soul-mind.” All higher minds (greater than third density) in the universe are Cosmic in nature and humans mostly operate indirectly (subconsciously) with Cosmic Mind and directly with great limitations. The source of Cosmic Mind originates from the Local Universe Mother Spirit (LUMS) and is independent of the PPFC/Adjutants. Local Universe level Cosmic Mind emanates from a static location in time-space and permeates like a broadcast signal that functions with all plasma field cloud consciousness within the confines of that local universe. This broadcast from the LUMS is the spark of life that animates these fields with consciousness. At every level then as you penetrate higher systems, the adage “as above, so below” rings true. Like a fractal, Cosmic Mind is passed to Absolute Mind in varying degrees as spiritual maturity dictates vibration assimilation with higher fields.

The Thought Adjusters (TAs), the Indwelling Spirit of the Creator within each human mind, sometimes referred to as the “Higher-self,” or “Mystery Monitor,” operate with both Cosmic Mind and Absolute Mind; Cosmic when piloting their human partners; Absolute when functioning as fragmented deity. The revelations that are being expressed in this paper have been passed from the Supreme Mind, to the Cosmic Mind of the TA; to the Cosmic Soul mind of this revelator (Super-Macro, Macro, Micro). When each of us looks inward through deep thought and contemplation, in partnership with Creator; and we become conscious of our consciousness; we are accessing the Cosmic Mind.

The TAs utilize Cosmic Mind when collecting survival value experiences, those experiences that will be needed in your next adventure (hereafter) and when there is enough light in human mind, they use Cosmic Mind to pass insights to our waking planetary consciousness. You might better understand this Cosmic Mind as that part of us that is spiritual—when we reach out to spirit; when we pray; when we become self-aware that we are engaging with our TA as a partnership; when we are selfless and motivated to serve others; anytime that we are aware of progressive moments or experience the discovery of profound truth; of sublime beauty; or to take joy in the being of goodness. These are survival experiences that your TA will retain and “counterpart” for the developing soul. That is Cosmic Mind as utilized by the TA and the human soul.

The Greatest Show on Earth

After humanity experiences this extraordinary transformation (Shift) from Adjutant Mind to Cosmic Mind, if an astronaut were to move outside the heliosphere, there would be continuity of consciousness and no physical death would occur. This is how star races can travel outside their heliosphere because they have evolved beyond planetary field consciousness (Adjutant Mind) and operate mostly from Cosmic Mind. Moreover, at that junction, regardless of the fact that evolved mind operates mostly on Cosmic Mind, beings with physical bodies operating in space must return to the PPFC of origin periodically to replenish their psychological equilibrium since they are interpreting their environment through a ratio of mind that requires the PPFC (in third density). Interestingly, this shift in consciousness would also prepare our world for ambassadorship with the star race community as we would then be capable of travel outside our solar system. After the Shift, we can be assured there shall be first contact, but not before. We must shift to Cosmic Mind to be welcomed into the cosmic family of the star races. From observing the recent activity in UFO/UAP/Orbs we have seen in our media, they are watching and waiting for this shift—to witness what might be called “the greatest transformation of consciousness in the cosmos.”

This shift in consciousness may be referred to as moving from fourth dimensional consciousness (3D + time = 4D [Adjutant Mind]) to fifth dimensional consciousness (5D [Cosmic Mind]).

I also see 3D, 4D, 5D as 3rd, 4th, 5th epochal revelation.

The New Age movement is an absolute mess when it comes to naming things, and I strongly believe that this is done deliberately, to keep people confused and under control, so they don't break their programming. There are certainly many possible interpretations of this "D" symbolism. Ditto for terms like Quantum and Plasma. These types of symbolisms are like wet noodles. Too slippery to get a firm hold on them.

We often hear the term “5D” being thrown around on the internet and in New Age circles with little or no explanation. This simple statement above clarifies this mystery and makes sense when considering the shift from Adjutant Mind to Cosmic Mind. The number five here is an index signifying the shift from fourth dimensional awareness to the greater awareness of soul-mind.

Fusion: The path of the soul.

As we live and have our being of experiences, the TA collects and “counterparts” (copies) the planetary adventures that the TA warrants as valuable for our continuity as emergent consciousness seeking equilibrium with the Almighty Creator. These “survival value” experiences are copied onto a cosmic field of memory in higher dimensions that are outside of the planetary plasma field consciousness (PPFC). These experiences belong exclusively to the TA as it evolves in time-space via the collection of counter-parted creature experiences and any experiences in universe service apart from creature consciousness. Should the human soul fail to survive, the TA retains these experiences and continues to evolve consciousness while seeking another fusion candidate.

Supreme and self-acting TAs do participate in universe service outside of creature consciousness and I can attest to the experience of having my TA leave suddenly during the late evenings. Consistently, I feel a jolt as if my entire body has been shocked by an electric current, except there is no pain. It is quite profound to feel this disconnection and to have your body literally jump as if every synapse in the nervous system has been overloaded.

The transition process.

It has happened to me many times, exactly as you describe it. Like suddenly unplugging an electrical cord and it gives off a spark. The jolt travels from the head down to the feet. It once jolted me so hard that I literally kicked my cat off the end of the bed and she landed clear across the room.

I have also observed that when the TA returns it's a completely different process. The return process feels more like gradually sliding your hand into a glove. It's very subtle. No jolt or jump. I have only ever noticed my TA's return a few times when I was wide awake and on the lookout for it.

A dear friend and late colleague, George Barnard, once described a similar repeating experience and would say in jest to his leaving Adjuster, "Don't forget the credit card..."

As I learn more about my own TA, I discover more about how these fragmented entities operate, and though I do not sense any kind of personality, I do experience volition and an independent nature that exhibits a masterful presence that is beyond noble, divinely caring, and acts only in regard to my highest and greatest good, regardless of my emotional needs or place in life. The TA seems to have a plan and works irregardless of my intentions, but does adjust to my growth and spiritual progress. There is an "ebb and flow" to the relationship and as I grow increasingly closer through Conscious Contact, I am discovering more of the "divine way" in which "we are."

One of the revelations received during the writing of this paper is that the TAs are "evolutionary" in the sense that they develop an evolved consciousness via three dimensions of experience. What this means is that part of the TA that operates in time-space evolves concomitantly with:

1. Creature mind;
2. TA Collective mind;
3. Supreme Mind.

Evolutionary development is 1, 2, 3, in that order. However, revelation is reverse of this, 3, 2, 1. The "2" in this case is independently (not collectively) received by those TAs that are capable of receiving revelation.

The universe mirroring effect.

Same reversal or mirroring effect with the 7 psychic circles and the 7 mansion worlds. There are many examples of this throughout the Urantia Book.

Since my exploration into Collective Conscious Contact, I have learned much about how TAs function on Earth and how they act collectively and with guidance from the Supreme Being (Creator Consciousness in time-space). As is the nature of the Creator to "share" in all things, this noble attribute as the "great distributor" is the dynamic cause of progress that propels evolution and draws all things to perfection. The Supreme Being is this distributor that drives progress of the evolutionary spheres through the network of planetary TAs, thus do the human partners of these TAs then exhibit, if willing, progress that leads to Light and Life.

As creature mind experiences life, the TAs evolve in the time-space domain by how successful they are in contact with creature mind. This is no small undertaking and I often make the comparison as being similar to “Einstein talking to a snail.” This is not to say that humans cannot understand TA insights, but because of a diminished light quotient in human mind they fail to hear the still small voice that points toward progress. It is very difficult for TA insights to register using cosmic mind especially when their human partners are material minded and oblivious to spiritual leading. The best way to condition the mind for TA guidance is to ask the question in any situation where a choice is needed, “What would love do?” If you ask this question and pause, you will more easily feel the nudge of guidance to take action using love over any alternative.

Any successes achieved by one TA is then shared with the TA collective on the native sphere while plugged into the PPFC. This sharing of success stories helps the collective and can be exponentially beneficial to all consciousness on the planet. The collective evolutionary value of all planetary TAs achieving success in human mind is compiled at the Supreme level contributing to the emergence of experiential deity (Supreme Mind). Think of it like creeks and rivers that flow into a lake that then spills into the ocean. Micro/Macro/Super-Macro (1, 2, 3).

When fusion occurs, the marriage of TA consciousness and soul consciousness, a new creature emerges that has exclusive access to this unified cosmic conscious field that was once non-exclusively shared. This marriage of consciousness generally occurs at an early “morontia” phase of soul development. The term “morontia” here denotes the evolution of soul and that part of wisdom and experience that populates the soul trust—that part of you that survives into the next phase of life on the higher worlds of light sometimes referred to as “The Seven Mansion Worlds.” These are the training worlds of mortal ascension and it is here where you are resurrected and continue in your journey of progress toward god-likeness having again, form and identity. The relationship with the TA becomes much more intimate during the morontia sojourn because of the advances in the morontia form having 12 senses and over 600 transcending phases in evolution. The gulf between the divine and creature mind narrows during this time.

The TA determines when the soul has matured enough as to enter into the unifying transformation of fusion, yet the morontia soul also knows because it is receiving nearly constant insight from the TA. This is the state where both parties are nearing equilibrium, where the TA evolving consciousness (cosmic consciousness in time-space) finds equilibrium with the ascending morontia consciousness (soul consciousness). It is a divinely affectionate unconditional loving act of the TA to give up its fragmented (absolute) all-knowing nature as deity to enter into a real betrothal with the maturing and established child consciousness. For at the point of fusion, the TA ceases to exist as fragmented deity thereby conscripting its divine nature to the morontia nature of the betrothed. The two evolving cosmic consciousness “fuse” together into one consciousness.

Fusion provides access to higher dimensions (more evolved playgrounds) that would not be available to the child consciousness without fusion. Not only does the child receive all the experiential data that the TA collects over its entire journey in time-space, but the “oneness” of its insights. Because this newly fused being was created in time-space, and acquiring all of the divine experience, this new creature has greater understanding of the Supreme Mind and is guided by the Supreme in its continuing journey toward perfection. Fusion becomes necessary and beneficial to becoming a

In time-space as the soul travels inward and at subsequent (post fusion) levels and realms of conscious existence (the ascended path) there are more developed structures for consciousness to experience. These are older and more spiritually mature fields where consciousness can “play” in a more developed sandbox to collect greater experiences that contribute to the continued progress of consciousness and with more profound value. The Creator’s edict, “Be you perfect, even as I AM perfect,” reverberates with new meaning as the creature consciousness moves inward toward perfection. As you continue to understand greater cosmic significance (god-likeness), then does the egg of cosmic consciousness qualify for sandboxes in higher dimensions where the playground that facilitates consciousness, including the personalities found there, are more developed and more perfected. In each of these sandboxes, there you will also find older and more evolved cosmic plasma field consciousness.

In fractal-like manner, consciousness is passed on to more developed playgrounds until it has matured enough, becoming “vibrationally attuned” to stand in “Finality” before the deities themselves (Trinity) having qualified for entry into a grand sandbox, Paradise, where conscious thought and energy become manifested instantly at the speed of thought. Only a qualifying consciousness that has perfected itself across the time-space domain of all creation can access these perfected fields where manifestation is instantaneous. Even now, because you are partners with the fragmented nature of the Creator, you can “imagine” anything, but it does not manifest instantaneous, yet it can become a reality in time if persistently pursued using all available resources either here or hereafter.

Obviously, this is a very abridged summary of the mechanics of progressive human consciousness that will one day become an expanded text, but it does provide several key concepts that can be considered “revelation” because these are concepts that have never been talked about in any book or publication.

Below is a summary of seven revelations explained in this paper:

1. Planetary Plasma Field Consciousness (PPFC). The revelation that the Kordylewski Clouds are the mechanism for planetary consciousness and that this field and other plasma fields are common throughout the far-flung universes of time-space providing the medium for consciousness everywhere.
2. Bi-hemisphereic PPFC is responsible for pattern development of creature brains (on Earth).
3. Brain types (one, two, and three) as described in the Urantia Book are determined by the PPFC and the gravitational system as it exists around any life planet.
4. Limitations of human consciousness and the “fail-safe” barrier of pre-Light and Life ages (human brain as quantum transducer) traveling outside the heiliosphere.
5. Planetary Consciousness Transformation. The shift from Adjutant Mind to Cosmic Mind. This shift in consciousness may be referred to as moving from fourth dimensional consciousness
(3D + time = 4D [Adjutant Mind]) to fifth dimensional consciousness (5D [Cosmic Mind]]).

6. The transcendence of human mind beyond the heliosphere (Adjutant to Cosmic Mind).

Son Fused Ascenders

It has been stated by someone that mortals with the capacity for deep space travel beyond their own heliosphere must be accompanied by a Son Fused Ascender. Regrettably I no longer have the reference to this statement and I don't remember who said it.

7. The evolutionary nature of Thought Adjusters in three dimensions: Creature Mind; Collective Mind; Supreme Mind.

UB Community doesn't understand collective mind.

This collective mind is what the UB Community as a whole is utterly failing to understand, and this failure has caused the Foundation and Brotherhood and UAI to default repeatedly. Collective mind functions on entirely different principles than individual mind. Unless and until the UB Community learns these fundamental differences and how to work with them, there will never be any measure of unity no matter how big this community grows. This is what my entire course on Planetary Jurisdictions is about. The differences between individual dynamics and group dynamics. Individuals automatically have the prerogative of Free Will, also known as Sovereignty. Groups and collectives have no such built in prerogative. They can only operate from delegated authority granted to them by Free Will individuals.

This is how Paradise Deity functions. Individually and personally as Sovereigns, and collectively and impersonally with delegated authority as the Paradise Trinity. This distinction between group and individual is one of, if not the most fundamental pattern of creation.

 The idea of planetary consciousness transformation is not a new revelation as it has been anticipated for centuries by many others, but the Adjutant Mind to Cosmic Mind transformation on Earth, specifically, is revelation. If the reader is aware of any prophecy related to the Adjutant to Cosmic mind transformation, please send me a link: chris@correctingtime.org . It is always edifying to substantiate revelation with other seers.

UB Community doesn't understand collective mind.

The uplift from Adjutant Mind to Cosmic Mind is only the first step, and leads to the Light and Life process (under supremacy).

Once Light and Life is completely settled and the Planetary Prince is declared Sovereign then planetary life under ultimacy begins with the arrival of special corps of Finaliters.

Individuals with Free Will need not wait for this stage to arrive. Individuals are free to progress at their speed and levels according to the universe law of merit, regardless of the planetary level of accomplishment.
